Short description:

A procedurally generated trinket / jewelry box.

Description:

Do you keep forgetting where you've placed things? Is this driving you mad as a hatter? Try this magical cabinet solution today - or your insanity back guarantee! This design is generated from an array of squares whose vertices are displaced by a noise field, producing a tripping outline. The wooden version is printed using wood-filled PLA; it is then treated with wood putty, sanded and stained.
