Short description:

A tealight holder with a Voronoi noise pattern.

Description:

Time stands still and memories carved in stone capture eternal paths of journeys that once were and always will be. This tealight holder features an organic Voronoi pattern. A subtle overlay of small-scale noise gives the surface a grainy texture. Two versions are provided: a regular model with a thin wall and a model meant to be printed in vase mode. The latter version has a much shorter printing time, but the overall effect of the texture is less prominent.
